MASS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT • CONVOCATION

The Start of Something Big!

The Mass of the Holy Spirit is not only a start of the academic year, but is a chance to begin the year by recognizing together who we are and reflect upon what goals we hope to acheive.

The Convocation was a chance for the leaders of Assumption to welcome students, faculty, and administration. Dean Richard Oehling first awarded the Raymond Marion Scholarships to Mary B. Racicot and Richard T. Heffernan. Greetings were extended by Father Richard Brunelle (Father Superior of 50 Old English Road), Dr. Lance Carloccio (Faculty President), Cathy Brown (SGA President), and Assumption President Joseph Hagan.

On September 10th, another academic convocation gained nationwide focus when ambàssador to the Vatican, William A. Wilson, and archbishop Nuncio Pio Laghi held a common forum to share each other's concepts on Vatican Policy. It was the first public meeting between the two dignitaries and had presidential approval.

Ambassador Wilson spoke on the history of Vatican/U.S. relations while archbishop Pio Laghi's articulate speech emphasized the importance of the communication created by this liason. Cardinal Bernard Law summed up the forum, commenting that this was not an unjust mixing of church and state, rather a beneficial arrangement for both Catholics and Americans.

Although it was a cool rainy day, over 30 trained and non-trained runners participated in the first ever "Run for the Heights" Road Race. The race was sponsored by Miller, who contributed caps, cups, and trophies, as well as promotional material including start and finish banners. Eileen Powers and Tricia Griffin organized the race.

The race went three miles, starting up Salisbury Street and ending on the

RUN FOR HEIGHTS

Nothing - even rain - could stop us campus track. Worcester police marked the trail for the runners. Trophies and prizes were awarded to winners in both the men's and women's categories. Sophomore Dan Senecal outdistanced the field in his first place finish. Second place went to Senior Jim Moran while third place trophy went to freshman Jim McNamara. Receiving the women's trophy was senior Jenny Conley Second place in the women's category was Kathleen O'Grady.

Heights took a financial loss on the race but the staff felt it was important to start the tradition for future semesters.

While the President and major donors consumed their Chateau de Briande in tuxedoed splendor, hundreds of the campus' common folk swarmed to the campus center to watch their friends and roommates transform themselves into their favorite rock and roll heroes.

Emcee, Scott Cronin, and a panel of judges, Eileen Powers, Joe Shutt, and Brian McCoy provided comical entertainment between performances.

John Downes received the first place award for his performance of Led Zepplin, Jeff Stewart received second for his risque' Prince performance, and Tim Higgins earned third for his hilarious Talking Heads impression.

Notable group acts included the "Macho Man" and "Doug and the Slugs." In the finale, an inspiring performance of "We Are the World" compelled everyone to join in the singing.

SENIOR EXCLUSIVE

Steppin' out

The sight of a dark suit can send a shiver up your spine, for it is a grim warning of the way our lives will change by next year. Alarms ringing at 6:30, long commutes, dull meetings. But for now dressing up can also be a way to celebrate-which is what Seniors did on October 5th, turning out in great numbers to remeneisce on the past, and look forward to an anticipated final year.

The affair was organized by senior president, Bob Morgan, and the other class officers. Everyone enjoyed the full bar, but even more enjoyable was the opportunity to see and visit with friends you rarely got to see. The senior exclusive wasn't just dancing. It was a table hopping, swapping gossip, checking out who's with who, intense conversations in the corner, and a tug on the sleeve with a quick wink and smile as your freshman crush passed by.

So next year when the alarm rings at 6:30 and we're putting on our suits for another long day at work, we'll wish we could set the clocks back a year.

OUT OF CLASS

Special friends

Sharing intimately while building our lives is the most important consideration for a balanced, happy existence. Deep, meaningful friendships . . . permanent ones that grow and strengthen over many years . . . offer us security throughout the changing aspects of ourselves and the extreme acceleration of the world we live in.

-Walter Rinder

A smile costs nothing and takes but a moment, but the memory of it can last a lifetime.

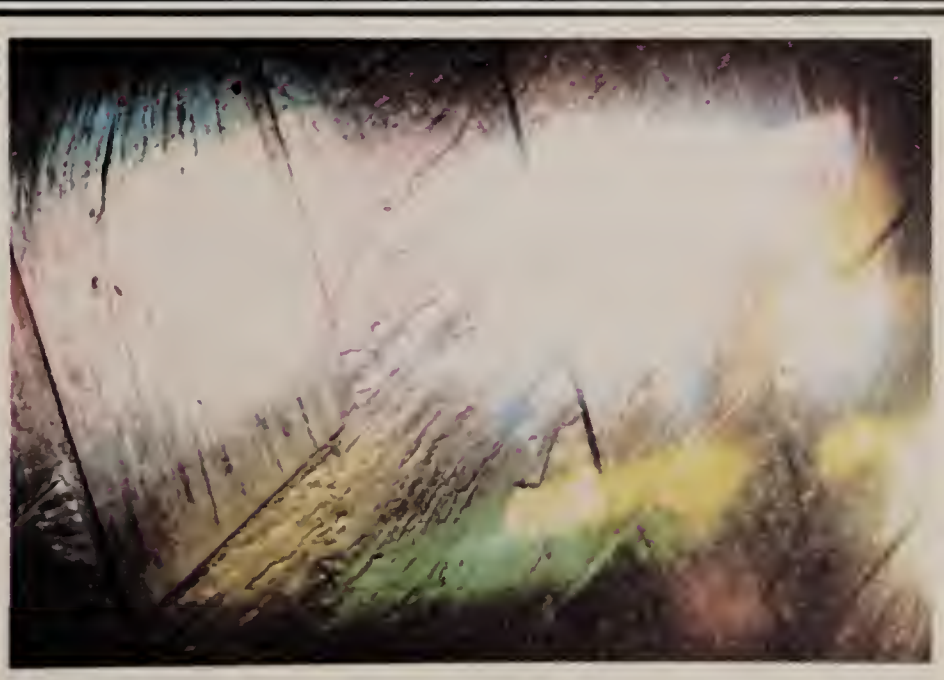

PARENTS' WEEKEND

Who said anything about a generation gap?

As I reflect upon good things, my thoughts center around those who mean so much to me and I count the times I forgot to say thank you.

Parent's weekend provided the answers to the big question; "Why is my roommate like that?" If you ever wondered about your roommate's stupid laugh, thin lips, weakness for red, or predilection for pasta, November 1, 1985 gave you the chance to see the answer in the flesh. And while starring at the student parent combinations, you got to enjoy a variety of special events, thanks to the efforts of co-chairmen's Jackie Nichelson and Karen Duffy, and staff members Laurie Piazza, Neil Casey, and Theresa Long.

Friday evening included an Italian Buffet Dinner and variety show at the Theatre Workshop. The evening's main event took place at the campus center, where the Junction became a Carnival site, while upstairs gambling tables brought crowds to Monte Carlo Night.

Saturday was a good education for the parents about just how long a college day can be. While some people were still recovering from Friday's events, the Assumption crew team kicked off the day by capturing the Clark Cup. Later, an Alcohol Awareness Program provided an educational dimension to the day. The chorale's afternoon concert in the chapel set the mood for the Mass which followed. At the end of the afternoon, President Hagan entertained the families at the traditional President's Reception.

For those who had energy left, there was another dinner and a Sock Hop Dance where "The Coachmen" gave the parents an opportunity to show off their jitterbug talents while students reacted with amazement of horror.

On Sunday, after a leisure brunch, families enjoyed final strolls around campus before leaving. As the Ford station wagons and Jaguars rolled away, students all over campus could be seen sighing contentedly and discreetly pocketing twenty dollar bills.

JUNIOR-SENIOR
EXCLUSIVE

Who said formals are formal?"

While Assumption made attempts to put back a bit of tradition in the school, an unexpected snowstorm helped us create our own contemporary tradition, "The Informal Formal."

While WAAF DJ Peter Zipfield better known as "Zip" played music from Otis Day and the Nights, "Shout", to Bruce Springstein's "Dancing in the Dark", Juniors and Seniors straggled into the mailroom, shoving sneakers in mailboxes, and changing from duck boots to spike heels, overcoats to 3 piece suits and umbrellas everywhere! Not an ordinary sight expected to be seen at a Junior-Senior Exclusive, but who said we were ordinary?

Taking care of business . . .

Assumption College has a reputation believing in a strong liberal arts philosophy. Within the past few years an outstanding business program has emerged within this philosophy.

Thirty percent of the Class of 1986 graduated with a degree in either Business Management or Accounting, the highest number in the school's history. But Assumption College is by no means a business school. Students have the best of both worlds, a well rounded education and an opportunity for a degree in a field of demand.

English Experience

With O'Shea at the helm, and Pearl at the desk, we hand in our papers to them and the rest.
Now John Burke is back to teach us some Lit.,
while Farragher and McGonigle help us on bit by bit.
Dr.'s True and Castaldi calmly tell us, "revise,"
and we think "not again" as we hold back our cries.
In Women's Studies taught Dr. Dorenkamp, it's women we know that are the real champs.
Now this little lyric Knoles and Baruch would agree,
though we've tried what you've taught us- it ain't poetry.

Making the pieces fit

This phrase accurately describes the challenge accepted by students who take on the role of resident assistant. The RA role is perhaps the most difficult balancing act to master. On any given day they are called on to be administrators, confidants, friends, rule enforcers, programmers, community builders, referees and students. The RA actively assists residents in making sense of the many demands and pressures of college living. When in doubt many people turn to the RA to assist them in prioritizing their academic, career, personal and spiritual needs. In many ways the RA has, in a very subtle manner helped their residents to "Make the Pieces Fit".

Secretary Burnout:

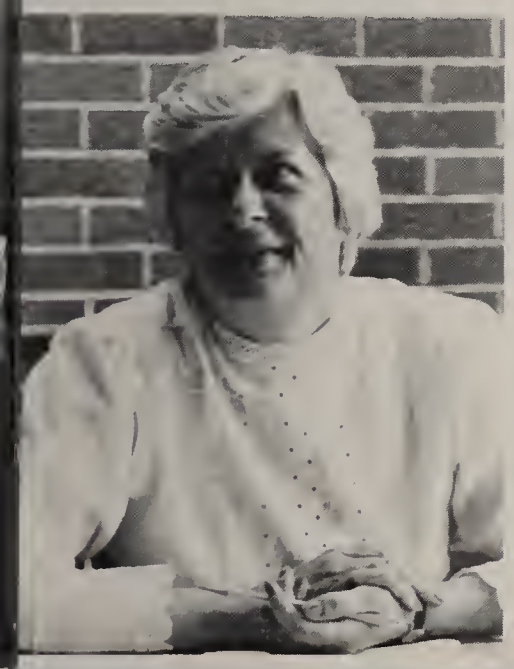

(We don't know who originated this, but it has been spotted in various publications, and we think its eternal truths are worth sharing further. With apologies to, and appreciation for, secretaries everywhere—perish and otherwise! MLL)

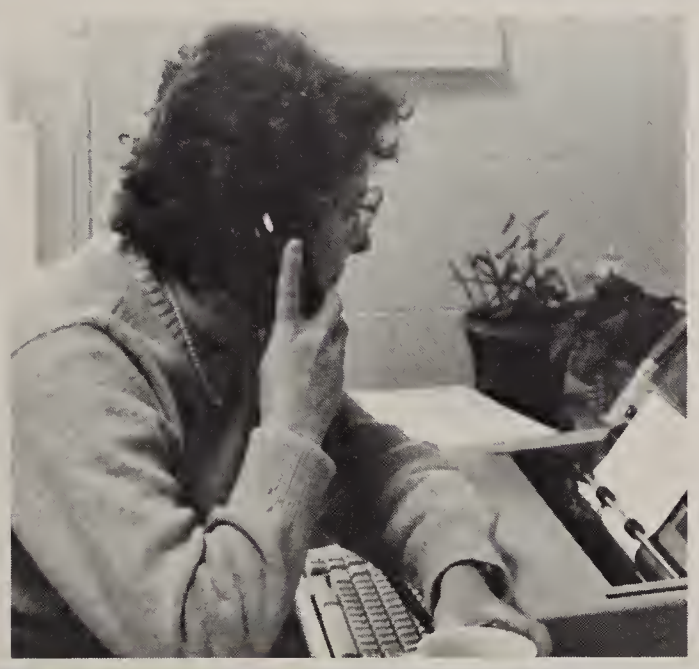

The typewriters' ticking and the telephone rings,
As the computer is buzzing among other things.
Ten o'clock comes and you really want coffee,
but first- send three letters in triplicate copy.
Everyone's in and out asking small little favors, then you get it done promptly for, "You're a life saver."
This is to try to show you our appreciation from students and faculty and administration.

Looking foward to what's ahead of me

I'm looking around and looking far behind
I always wonder what's inside my mind
So much to choose and there's so much to see
I'm looking forward to what's ahead of me.

Starting on my way to many places
Seeing stories on the peoples' faces
Few they see but many are so blind
Am I trapped with this same narrow mind?

I've been walking on this road so very long.
My body's weak, but my mind must stay strong
I'll continue on this journey if I can
I hope this world won't forget, I'm just a man.

If you see me on this road someday
I hope you'll help me out in a special way
I'll continue on the road because I'm free
And I'm looking forward to what's ahead of me.

Resume rhetoric

Resume.
What's a resume?
My whole life on one sheet of paper. It'll never fit. Should be pretty easy, though. I'll talk to Colleen and whip one out.

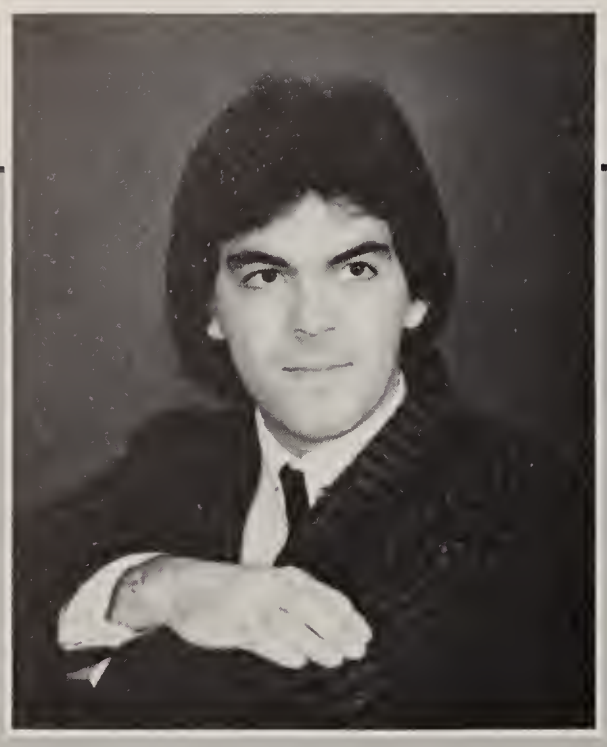

Well, Colleen cleared that right up. All I need now a whole week to do nothing but my resume. Just what I wanna do instead of party.
O.K., Objective. What do I want to do with my life? Well, we'll skip this for now.
Education. Assumption College. Forget the G.P.A.-It's under 3.0, that's all anyone has to know. That part was easy.

Experience. How to glorify working at McDonald's? Let's see, I served food . . . Valuable experience in sales, ah . . . put money in a drawer . . . Responsible for cash receipts, um . . . I gave that cute guy extra fries . . . involved in customer satisfaction. Alright! Sounds great, what next?
Activities. Let's see, I took a free bus ride with that club that Bob Molloy's in. I must be a member. What was the name . . . St. Bernard's club . . . no . . . it's the St. Luke's Society, yah, that's it, four year member, yah . . . four years. What the heck is that club. Don't care, it's on the resume now.

That wasn't so bad. Type it up . . . ONLY HALF A PAGE!!! I'll double space . . .

Better yet, I'll write my cover letter.

Assumptiontown

Well, we're living here in Assumptiontown
And they're closing the Assumption pub down
Out in Worcester Tech they're killing time
Waiting at Frats, standing in line
Well, our Father Fought The Financial Aid War
Spent their weekend working more and more
Met our Mothers at the IRS
Asking them to get us out of this mess.

And we're living here at Assumptiontown
But the restlessness was handed down
And it's getting very hard to stay

Well, we're waiting here in Assumptiontown
For the Utopia that we never found
For the promises our R.A.'s gave
If we work hard, If we behave.
So the graduations hang on the wall
But they never really helped us at all
No, they never taught us what was real
Budweiser, Coke, and Genesee Cream Ale.

And we're waiting here in Assumptiontown.
But they're taking all the beer from around
And the party people transfer away

Well, I'm living here at Assumptiontown
And it's hard to keep a good man down
But I won't be getting up today
And it's getting very hard to stay
And we're living here in Assumptiontown.

We all went to see Mr. Clean
But found only a washing machine
That ate quarter on quarter
Poured out ice cold water
And left us wet, dirty and mean.

The dryer just wouldn't just dry
No matter how much we would try
It's pace was so slow
That we could just blow
And make the air temperature high.

The guys who put in their jocks
Would get them mixed up with our socks
So we'd finally dared
And decided to share
Our bras with the boys boxer shorts.

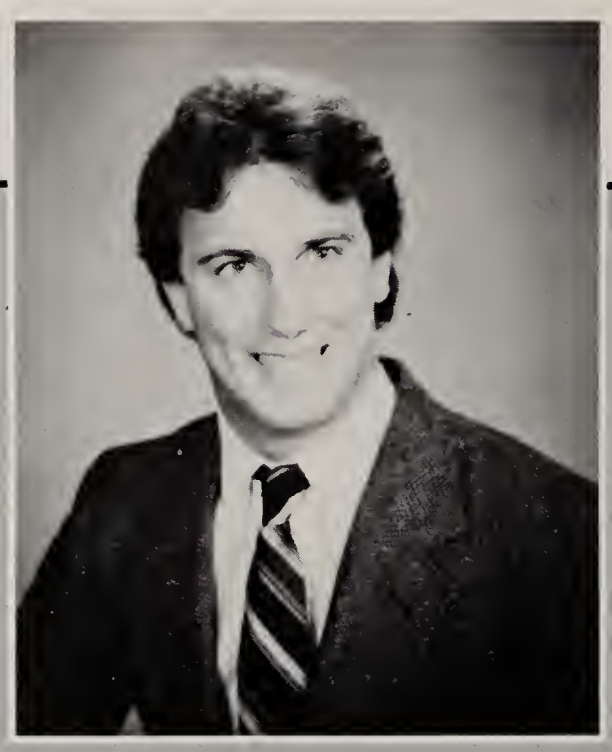

There is an old saying by gosh
That "everything comes out in the wash"
We wish it weren't true
But what could we do
That laundry was just one big slosh.

These memories just won't go away
They'll come to us both night and day
They'll cause us big smiles
Tho we're parted by miles
And we won't need a word to say.

If . . .

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too,
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream and not make dreams your master;
If you can think-and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build them up with worn out tools:

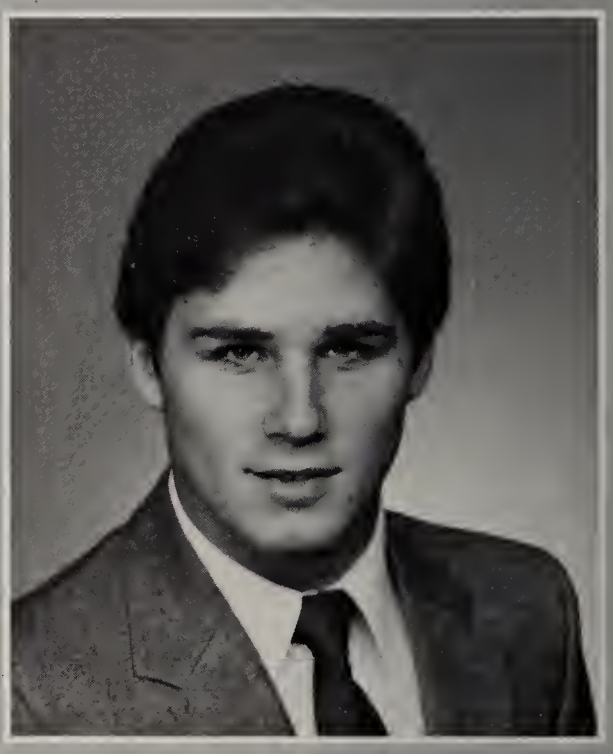

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breath a word about your loss,
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold On!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue
Or walk with kings nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count on you, but none too much,
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And, which is more, you'll be a man, my son!

Wilder's wingding

Way back in September, do you remember? We gathered together in a place tucked far away from campus life to swim, waterski, picnic, get together, reminisce, and DRINK!

The first informal gathering of the quad and it was a success, of course. Thank you's go to Andy Wilder for the lake, the sun, the fun, and the warm sweaters when it got chilly. Entertainment for that Sunday was provided by Michael Thorne, Peter Garrity, and Tommy Barrettt as they danced the "wipe-out" on skis.

Blown away

Winds blew. Beers flew. Power off. Classes cancelled. GLORIA!! . . . and we swam in the mud and covered ourselves with beans from a chair. It rained and it snowed bean bag chair stuffings. We sat nervously by the tube and clung to our cans as we watched our fellow quad men come home drenched from the storm dragging reckage behind them. They were tough times for all but somehow we muddled through.

So, while our co-eds on the lower end of the campus waddled in puddles outside the gym which became their home for the night. We, the five-men quad stayed in our homes and watched patiently as Hurricane Gloria blew us away.

Life on the hill. It's the best of both worlds. More privacy and quiet time, but with the choice to be independent. Nothing can compare to the camaraderie we've shared - a dorm grown together, growing up.

FOUNDER'S

What happened to Founder's Hall in 1985-86? Was it actually kept clean? Did people actually enjoy living there? YES! Under the able leadership of Resident Director Brian McCoy, Founder's finally got its act together after all these years. Even those freshmen who were not "privileged" enough to live in the New Dorm discovered life in Founder's to be a rewarding and enjoyable experience. A certain pride in the dorm characterized the residents of Founder's Hall, and a tradition rich in the intellectual and social refinement associated with Founder's Hall has begun.

ALUMNI

Alumni residence hall isn't much to look at on the outside, but on the inside there have been many good times and there are many memories. Some things remembered are: the hurricane hysteria, afternoons watching General Hospital, listening to the Big Chill and Animal House, Thursday nights with the Cosby show, Cheers, Family Ties and popcorn.

We can't forget the long lines for the showers (cold showers), phones, and washing machines. Those 2:00 fire alarms, boring floor meetings, and twenty-four hour quiet hours makes one wonder if it's all worth it.

Then there were those harmless college pranks; the shaving cream fights, the towels disappearing from the showers, and the kidnapping of cabbage patch dolls and stuffed animals for a ransom.

The things that made it all worthwhile were the late-night study breaks with Domino's, the Blue Jeans pizza man who goes to the University of Lowell, and the weekends.

Desautels Hall is full of fun loving, high spirited and energetic Assumption women who make Desautels a cozy place to live. Their dorm programs have included a few bus trips to Boston, Monday night munchies, candy gram sales at Christmas time, a fall pot luck dinner, and a spring cookout.

Each floor has it's own unique personality. The first floor is known for their continual feuds with Founders (pulling pranks). The second floor is famous for it's noise and for Debbie Noe's language! The third floor women, to quote Katie McElroy, and "not bad people," in fact they are a terrific and "quiet" group of women. All in all, Des. is a great place to live.

Accept Me

I am I
Do not change me
Condemn me,
Nor put me down.
Accept me for what I am.
No . . . you needn't agree with me
But accept me
For I am total in being.
I have my faults
I have my guilts
But that is who I am.
Perfect I may never be
Allow me to be uninhibited
Do not pressure me into feeling
What I do not feel.
Accept me when I'm flying high
As I have accepted you
When you were flying high.
Do not put me down . . .
Nor make me feel unhappy
About me.

Study or travel abroad means many things to many people. For a few, it's an experience from which they learn much about a foreign country. But for most, it's much, much more than that-it's an experience of a lifetime! To travel or live in another country and culture is an experience that encompasses so much, it makes a mark in your life that becomes a part of you, and the memories last forever . . .

ENGLAND

England is a jolly country. Tea at 4'o'clock then off to the Pub for a couple of pints. Warm beer does take a little getting use to but after a couple of pints one fancies it very nicely.

Shall we go to the Royal Theatre or to one of England's many beautiful museums? So much to do, Oh let's go to the Pub for a few and then decide. Cheerio!

ITALY

The Assumption College Chorale, under the direction of Michelle Graveline, embarked on a 9-day concert tour of Italy this year. They performed concerts in Florence, Venice, and Rome, where they were personally greeted by the Pope . . They also toured various Christian and Roman ruins. The trip was a religious, cultural, and fun learning experience for all.

IRELAND

Ireland is cabbage, double-decker buses, Guinness, and sheep blocking the roads; but if one word was to describe Ireland it would be pub. All aspects of Irish life are somehow brought together in a quaint pub, tossing around the blarney over a few pints.

Might these be our future congressmen and congresswomen or senators . . . or even President? It's not sure what the future aspirations of these students are, but one thing for sure is they've all had their taste of politics. During their Washington internships, many worked for Senators, members of Congress, and other political affiliates.

The 1985-86 season started with a very satisfying and long-overdue victory over Bentley College. Sophomore transfer, Rick Dandini, who had 225 yards and 12 carries against Bentley, gave the Hounds very high hopes for a winning season. The Hounds then travelled to New York to play Siena College who at that point of the season ranked number one. The Hounds came home victors 19-3, and the feeling of a great season was in the making.

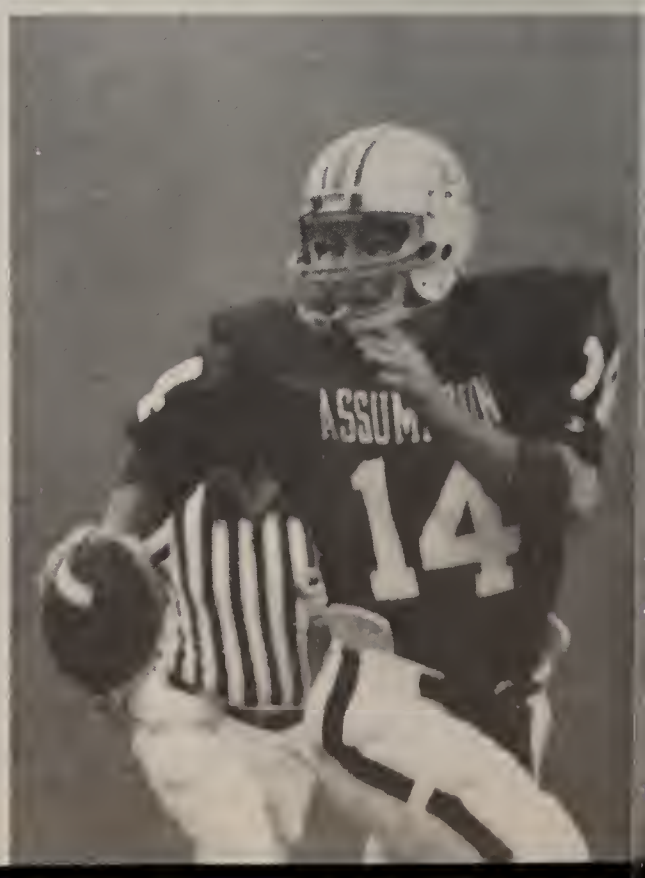

Despite key injuries, the Hounds pulled together to accumulate a record of 5 wins and 3 losses with the help of this year's captains Rich Bradley, John Downes, and Pete Garrity. Unfortunately, this record left the team a game shy of a playoff berth.

All-American Honors were given to Jake Fahey (punter), Rich

Victorious start marks season

Bradley (guard), and Pete Garrity (defensive tackle). Senior captain John Downes added the intensity to the defense at linebacker, earning him All-Conference Honors. Also earning All-Conference recognition were senior John Irwin (half-back), juniors Fran Benison (offensive tackle), and Ken Harrison (corner-back).

Congratulations to Jake Fahey, who has signed with the New England Patriots!

Respectability at last!!

Improvement, leading to a respectable record, let the Hounds pile up more wins this year than in the last three years combined.

Coach Mike Cammuso, in his 3rd season, had a strong recruiting year with 13 freshmen making the team. Co-Captain Joe Donahue, the lone senior on the team, Bryan Hartnett, confirmed all-star, freshman Joe Salvon, leading goal scorer, and Rohan Harrison shared the responsibility of bringing this young team together. Goal keeper Brian Wilbur, put in another strong performance averaging only 2.5 goals.

"We only accomplish in proportion to what we attempt."

A lot to be proud of!!

Behind senior co-captains Laura Houlk and Ellen Moynihan, the team battled into post season play for the first time since 1981. Even though they lost, coach LaBonti's team had a lot to be proud of.

Laura Houlk and Ellen Moynihan the hounds posted a respectable 7-9 record including their first playoff appearance since 1981. Houlk, a 4 year starter between the posts was impressive allowing only 1.7 goals per game. Which Moynihan anchored the lady hounds offense.

Sophomore two-time MVP, Ellen Trempter was high scorer. With all but two performers returning for the 1986 season, things look upbeat, and another playoff appearance is on the horizen for the lady hounds.

"Check" it out . . .

The 1985-86 hockey season for the Hounds was a very successful one. Their record was 13 - 7. They made it to the Division III Playoffs quarter finals, only to loss in overtime. Leading the way for the Hounds was Junior Defensemen Tommy Schofield with 11 goals and 42 assists. Also helping out was Senior Frank Vana with 24 goals and 8 assists. Senior Goalie Brad Buck has a very good season in the net for the Hounds, with a respectible goals against average of 3.22.

"The more it hurts to finish, the better the finish feels!"

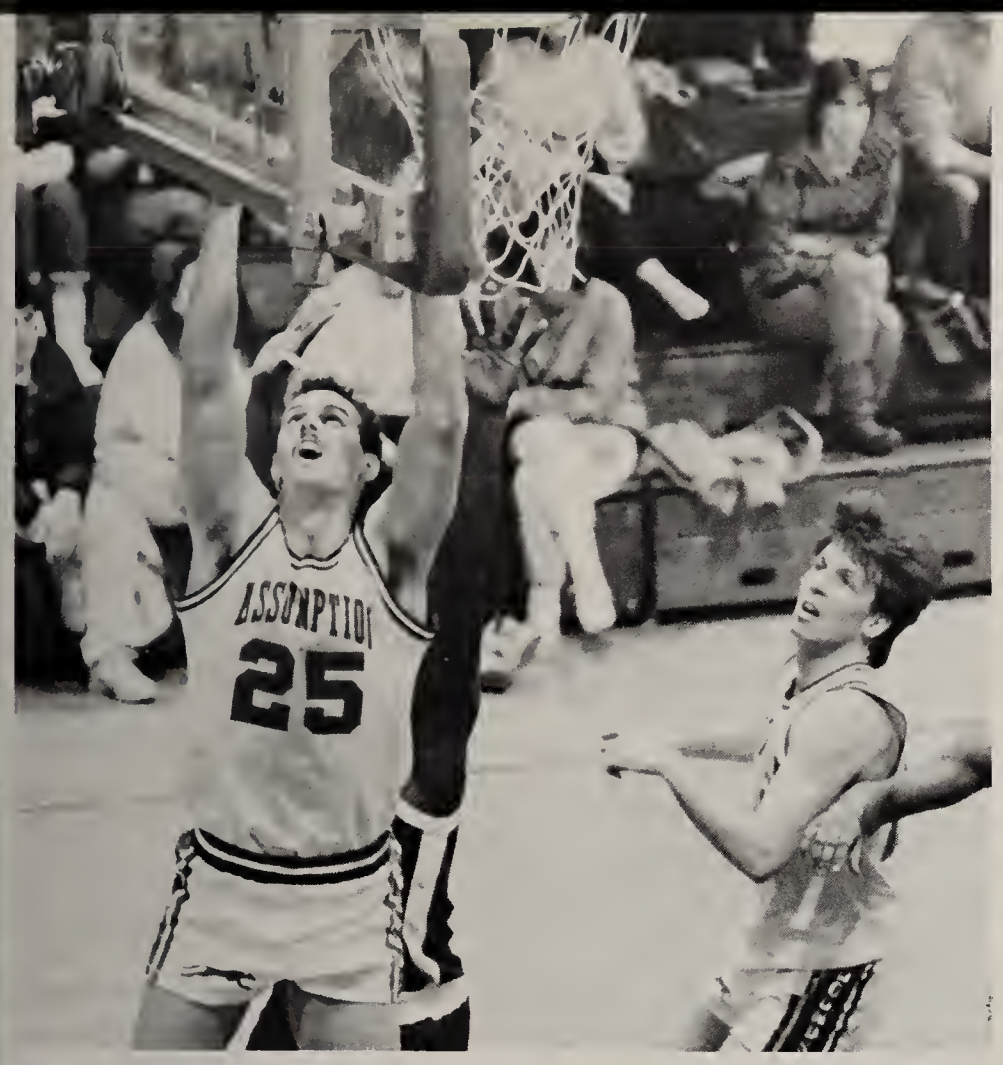

Up before dawn

Row, row, row your boat quickly down Quinsig . . . But seriously, the crew team consists of some of the most dedicated athletes here at Assumption. Up before dawn, and back after a freezing morning of practice, while the rest of A.C. is still rubbing their eyes. Crew members are true athletes, rowing for the sake of the sport itself.

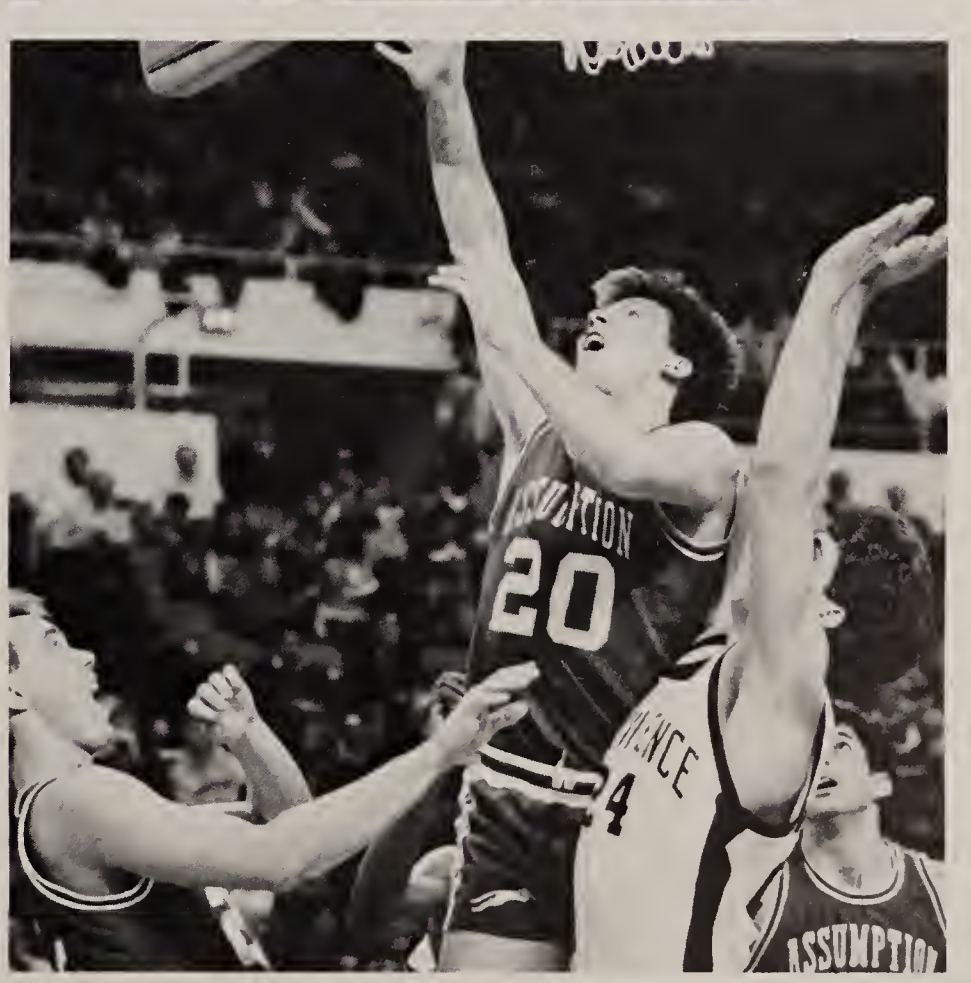

The beginning of Renken's Era . . .

The 1985-1986 season for the Hounds was one of ups and downs. New Head Coach Jack Renkens stepped into the shoes of living legend Joe O 'Brien. Renkens did a respectable job with victories over the Northeast-8 Conference Champions Springfield, winning the Bently Holiday Tournament, and defeating arch-rival Holy Cross. The Hounds were led by All Northeast-8 All-American Senior Scott Schoonmaker who scored and rebounded with the best of anyone in the country. This year was part of a learning process for Renkens and the young Hounds as they finished the season at 9-19. Hopefully this season will be the foundation for continuing success in the future for the Greyhounds.

"We got a new attitude"

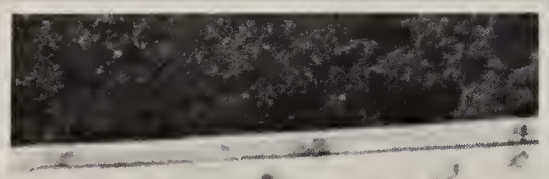

This years women's basketball team worked very hard but statistically did not come up with too many wins. Early season victories over Lowell and Worcester State were indications that this team could do well but some of the spark left when Captain Jenny Conley was injured for half the season. Everyone contributed on the team getting playing time and experience including Senior Carol Sullivan, with a great game against Utica College in their tournament, Juniors Monica Dolan playing her new position of point guard, Yvette Gosselin, a very strong, consistent rebounder, and Sophomore Barbie Barrett who led the team in scoring. With the attitude of this year and the experience of all the players, good things are in store for next year's season.

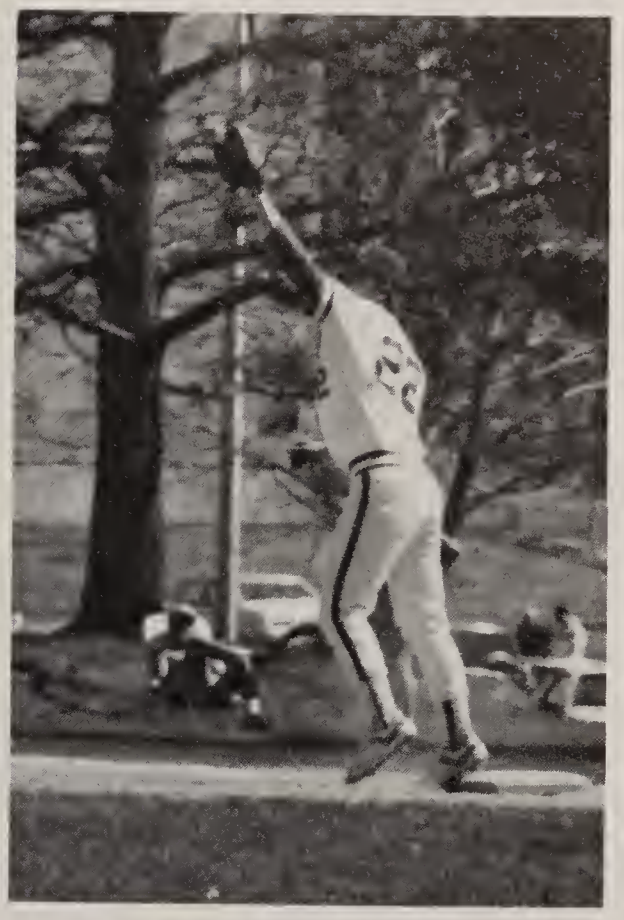

Hounding the plate . . .

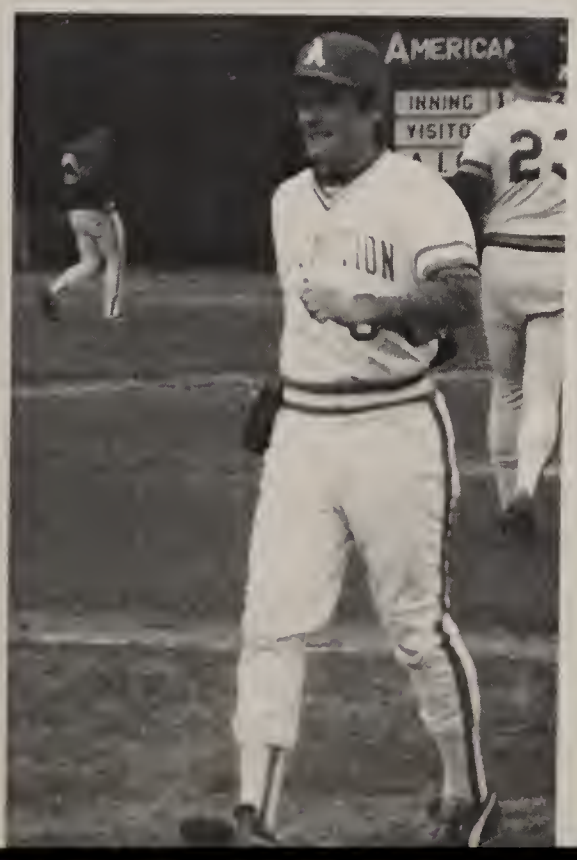

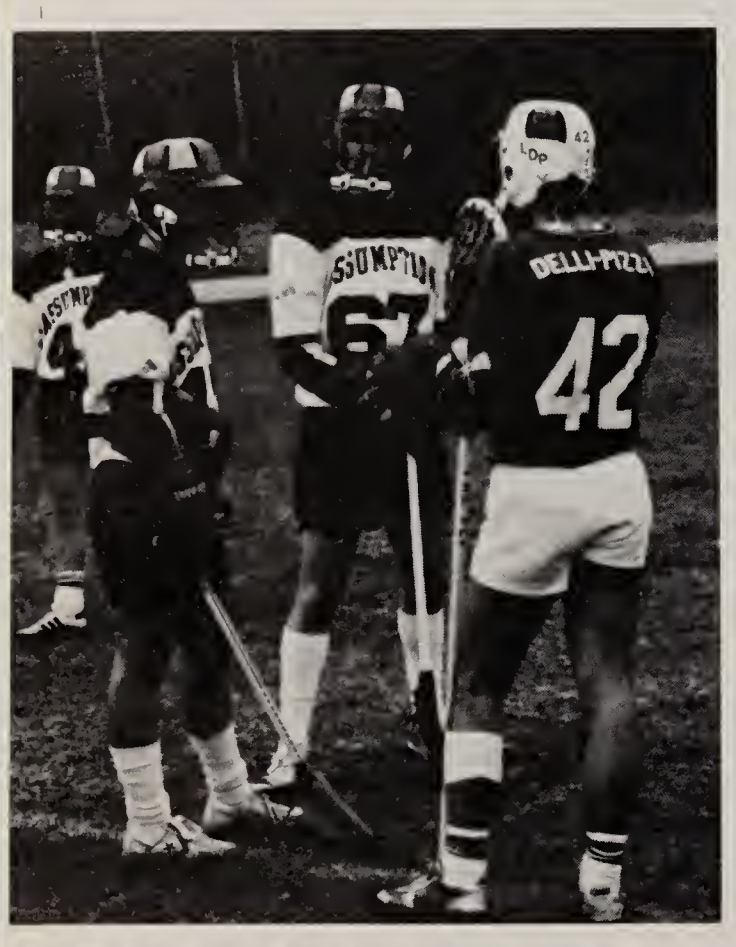

The Hounds opened the season with 10 wins against just 3 losses, but went on a tough 3 and 5 skid in the middle of the season because of arm injuries by pitching aces Brian Wilbur and Bruce Richard. The Hounds finished 15-9-1 with an impressive come from behind 9th inning win over New Hampshire College.

Leading the way was 3rd baseman Mark Legowski who hit a solid .360, Fran Carelli who posted a 6-2 record with 3 saves and a 1.37 ERA to lead New England in both categories, Peter Rolfe knocked in 22 RBI's including a team leading 5 game winners, and Jack Lepore who hit at a .376 clip, Wayne Patterson who played several positions was 2nd in New England with a .415 average, his straight .400 season and catcher Ray Fagnant hit .387 with a New England leading 9 homers and 35 RBI's. Patterson, Fagnant, Lepore, Carelli and Rolfe gained 1st team All-Northeast 8 Conference Honors and for Lepore, Carelli, and Fagnant, the season will culminate in Fenway Park in the College All-Star Game by virtue of their 1st team All-New England status.

This season was a rebuilding year for the Greyhounds of Assumption Lacrosse. The squad this season was young and inexperienced. More than half the team had never played the sport prior to this year. There was a rookie coach at the helm, and only five seniors in the group of twenty six players. Those who are close to the team here look for a more competative situation next season with many outstanding athletes returning. It appears the time has come for the program here at Assumption to turn the corner towards becoming a program based on pride and a newformed winning tradition. The best is yet to come for the "Lax-Hounds" here at Assumption.

"The best is yet to come . . .

Coach Brian Kelly had plenty to be optimistic about as he entered his 3rd season at the helm. The Lady Hounds boasted a team batting average of .377 and the fifth "best-scoring-team" title with 6.7 runs per game making them the premier offensive team in the nation. With Sophomore pitcher Amy Romano and N.C.A.A. Division II batting champion Barbara Barrett, Assumption was looking at a winning season.
In South Carolina, the Lady Hounds compiled an impressive 9-3-1 record against national powers. Back in Worcester they continued their winning ways by posting victories in 7 of their first 8 contests. Worcester State gave the Lady Hounds the Worcester City Championship.

Excellent pitching from Ann Gibbons and timely hitting and defense from Kathy Orazietti and Ann Morin carried the squad to a Northeast-8 playoff victory over nationally-ranked American International College. The Lady Hounds finished a respectable 18-12 with the knowledge that their best ball is still ahead of them.

"Semi-Pro"

Intramural competition- from the beauty of athletic excellence to the humor of pure, unadulterated uncoordination.

Why does one join this intercampus battlefield? Love of the sport, venting of frustration, joy of showing off, thrill of competition, want of the infamous winners shirt, or just persuasion by one's roommate. Wars have been started, studying has been ignored, exams have been failed, friendships formed, friendships lost, and many parties have been planned. All from this common link- intramural competition. Whatever the motives, whatever the results, most students have participated and were a star, even if for just one shot or one shining moment!

ACADEMY

The thrill is not winning but having the courage to try.

The game was made up for fools
So they called it intra- mules
It was for people who couldn't
And not just those who wouldn't
Handle a ball by the rules.

We all know that murals mean walls
Which is why we couldn't catch balls
It all happened to seem
That a wall was between
Any two of us giving our all.

The coach or the captain that day
Was the first one to get there and say
He'd pick up the team
That would soon turn a dream
To a nightmare or comedy play

We knew we didn't have Larry's winning plays
But we sure had some fun with that craze
It was a break from the grind
Happy moments we'd find
That we'll cherish thru memories haze.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

Beyond The Life Of The Classroom . . .

There are various academic and social activities which enable each student to put some of their free time into sponsoring activities and providing services. These activities not only enable students to work with one another, but also gives them the opportunity to pool their individual talents and abilities to benefit the college community.

Assumption seeks to educate students in the liberal arts tradition. Now, if one were to find the definition of "liberal arts", one would see a definition espousing the virtues of the medieval 'trivium' or 'quadrivium', which are designed to develop the general intellectual capacities. However, a student does not enhance his or her "general intellectual capacities" by merely participating in the academics offered here at Assumption College. To develop both in mind and in spirit is the essence of a liberal arts education. Academics paired with campus activities involvement provide the means by which a student can become truly educated.

There are thirty-six clubs and committees in which a student may become involved. From Student Government to the Chapel Choir there is certainly something which appeals to every student.

"I wanna go Hawaiian . . ."

The class of '86 started the great countdown to "G" day with the traditional 500 Daze Party. Flowered shirts to Jams, leis to grass skirts; flashy colors everywhere filled the dance floor as Juniors celebrated in a royal Hawaiian theme.

"Life is partly what we make of it, and partly what is made by the friends whom we choose."

For It Is In Giving That You Receive . . .

A great new tradition begun last year by the class of '86-the Senior Sendoff. A semi-formal occasion sponsored by the Junior class as a way of saying farewell to the graduating Seniors.

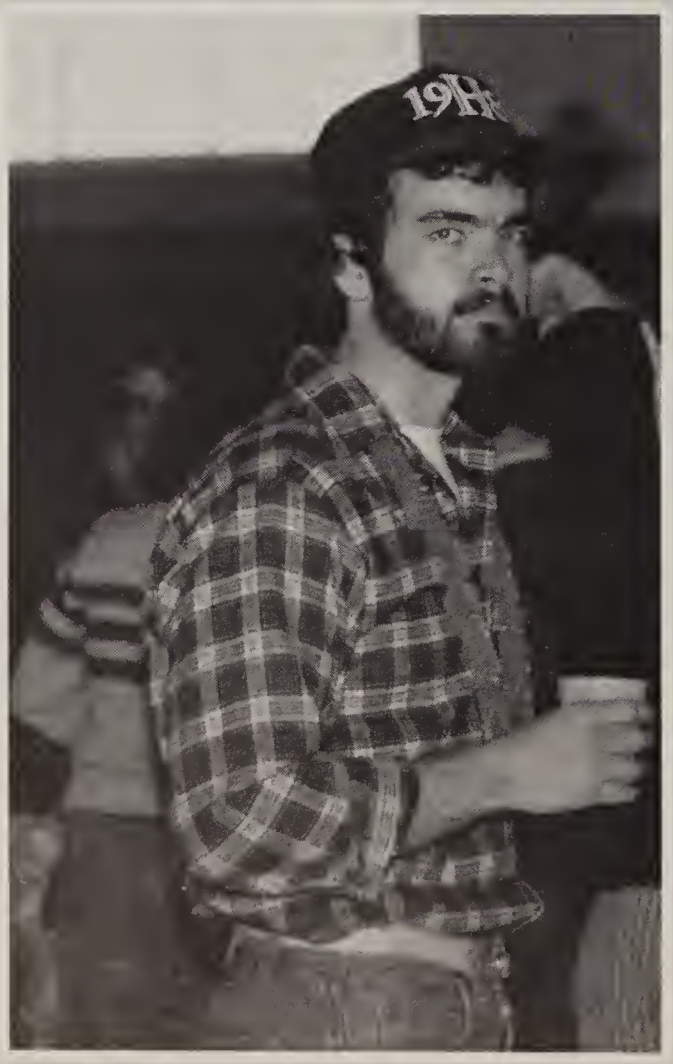

Springfest 86'

Something new this year was the Assumption College Variety Show which included students, faculty and staff. All had the opportunity to display their talents whether it be singing, acting in hilarious skits, or playing the straight man. Hats off to Eileen Dunn who may have begun a new annual tradition!

As the rest of the campus looked on with envy, the class of 1986 gathered together for a boppin '86 Daze Party.

This annual event, formally known as 100 Daze, was celebrated in the usual Assumption manner, only with a little style from the 50's. Poodle skirts, greased backed hair and lettermen sweaters was the dress of the night. Some very stylish men also appeared in lots of plaid and polyester.

The electricity could be felt as seniors danced together as graduation became more of a reality.

"Thanks, to the best of friends, whom without the greatest of times would not have been possible."

"Freshman 10"

Dear Sis,

I'm trying to get some homework done in the library, but it's a bit impossible between "Jack and Diane" blaring from Founders and a great stickball game going on in the quad, it's been hard to concentrate.

Yes, college is fun, but I'm still trying to get used to those long shower lines, waiting for the phone and even lines to get food I'm really not psyched to eat. It's all so new. The hardest thing of all, though, was getting used to the "lingo" people around here use. It took me a while to figure out what "wicked awesome" meant, and when someone told me he had 2 "scoops" in one night, I figured he had finished all of the ice cream!

Freshman Year

My first two days of classes were so confusing. I had a tough time finding my English 10 class, and the Registrar's office was not very helpful. They kept telling me to go to the "relocatables" . . . My English class is in a trailor?!

Can't wait to go home next weekend. See you then!

"Sophomore Slump"

Dear Sis,

Sorry I haven't gotten a chance to write. I'm so busy. Doing what? I don't know! I'm trying to keep studying down to a minimum.

Some awesome-looking seniors invited us to a party this weekend. (Not just everyone goes to senior parties.) Can't wait!

The freshmen are so lost! They go home every weekend. (Was I that bad?)

Our R.A. walked in on a small "gathering" we had last weekend. (Don't tell Mom!) We only got a warning. The R.A.'s here are pretty cool. I sure can't afford a fine. I can hardly afford to do laundry once a week.

See you at Thanksgiving!

Diet.. What Diet?

Junior Slide

Dear Sis,
Christmas is almost here. Can't believe I haven't seen you since August. Life is hectic at best. Having four courses in my major is no thrill.

Townhouse life is my salvation. No more cafe food. Rommates are great. Love our little "house."

The 500 Daze Party is next weekend. Only 500 days until I graduate! I'm trying to prepare, myself for the real world, but I don't know if I'm ready.

Some friends and I are going tailgating at the NC/BC game. Should be fun. My roommates and I are also planning a roadtrip to Ft. Lauderdale over Spring break. Got to check this place out. Should be a wild time. Fill in at Christmas!

"Senioritis"

Dear Sis,

I never thought this time would come (and I doubt you thought it would, either). It was nearly impossible to concentrate on finals with a job already lined up. By the way, I'm thinking about wallpapering my apartment with the remaining 92 resumes I'm holding on to.

With only one week left to graduation, my schedule is still really hectic: to the Cape/Pufferbellies, booze cruise, senior picnic, superlatives, and baccalaureate. Seems like a dream. It can't really be my turn already, can it?

See you at graduation. (Bring plenty of Kleenex for Mom and some champagne for me!)

"As the Spirit of God hovers over the waters of chaos, order ensues. Likewise, the Spirit of God within us calls us to hover over the options we face and to choose, thus bringing forth order. If we refuse to exercise our freedom responsibility, if we betray the friendship Jesus offers us, we run the risk of leaving something of God's creation unfinished, leaving something of God's glory incomplete."

Graduation Day

Today we'll start a new life
And we'll say our last good-byes
To all the friends we've grown to love
With whom we've laughed and cried.

Remember the fun and laughter,
The problems and the fears,
And watching all our memories grow
Throughout our college years.

The memories of "pub-nights"
And the new friends that we've met,
Spring breaks, professors, talking
And exams we'd rather forget.

Yes, college days are precious but brief,
Where all your dreams come true;
It is not the end, but the beginning
Of a life we'll start anew.

"Best Wishes To The Class Of 1986"

The dungeon was its birthing room
The yearbook turned out fine
But not without screams, fright and doom,
As we rushed to meet deadline.

We knew it was coming all too soon
As we struggled, fussed and fret
"Oh, no Gary, it's almost noon
Federal Express, please don't close just yet."

The cover, the pictures would never get done
The ladder diagram just won't fly
"Yearbook Associates - Please rush this one You've got to get us by."

We tried to shoot the video machines
And grind out these dummy sheets.
But the pictures, pica, pencils scene
Nearly wiped us off our feet.

We had to get a budget done
Any schedule was a sham
Many good nights' sleep were just forgone
We should have done so for exams.

When it's three o'clock in the morning
And you're dreaming of that and this.
When you get rested for the next day's learning
Do you know where your yearbook staff is?

Those luncheons, Norm, at the Legal Seafood
We needed to help us through
And the film supply was almost as good
Thanks Norm, we love you.

And Dan the man was always there
Whenever we needed him
To spark up our creative flair
And put up with our crazy whims.

Thanks to our Lip Sync and Road Race crew
You showed your support, that's great.
Helping make this book good and true
For a class that's just first rate.

Once upon a time, in a dark little hole under the Campus Center, there was a band of tiny elves who worked day and night to weave a golden tapestry of memories.

Some nights when the moon was full, they would sit on their high toadstools, and as they wove, talked of the olden days, when a staff was just a gnarled old walking stick; copy meant that furtive glance on the next elf's leaf tablet; and pix was the first syllable of pixie - but that was long, long ago.

Now the tapestry is finally completed. The elves present it to you with the hope that they have caught the spirit of life at 500 Salisbury Street. But before tucking away their thimbles and their golden thread, they have one more wish to make - that all those whose names are woven here may live happily ever after!
